views slide in with parallax with the header so that when the title reaches the center of the header, the view is also centered in the screen.

If the view has large canvas, switching views can be done by swiping on the header or clicking the desired tab.

tabs should have an `icon` property, for compatibility with the Breeze theme, even if it's not visible here.

If the toolbar icons are more than 3 or the app requires a menu, 3 dots signal that the header can be dragged down to reveal a menu

The dots are smaller than comfortable to tap, if tapped the menu should open anyway, but for easier operation, the user can just swipe down anywhere on the header, even if it's over a button
